

Notice of Data Security Incident

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania – September 10, 2025 – Pittsburgh Gastroenterology Associates (“PGA”) will be notifying certain current and former patients limited medical information may have been compromised. PGA takes the privacy and security of information in its possession very seriously and sincerely apologizes for any inconvenience this incident may cause. This notice is intended to alert potentially impacted individuals of the incident, steps we are taking in response, and resources available to assist and protect individuals.

What Happened PGA experienced a network disruption on August 12, 2025. Upon discovering the incident, PGA immediately took steps to secure the network environment and engaged cybersecurity experts to conduct an investigation. The investigation determined that certain files may have been acquired without authorization. PGA then undertook a comprehensive review of the data potentially impacted in this incident to determine whether personal information may have been involved. After a thorough review of the impacted data, which concluded on August 28, 2025, it was determined an unauthorized third party may have acquired certain individual health information during this incident. PGA is providing written notice to all impacted individuals. PGA has no reason to believe that any individual’s information has been misused as a result of this event.

What Information Was Involved Again, PGA has found no evidence that patient information has been misused. However, the following information could have been acquired and disclosed by an unauthorized third party: first name, last name, date of birth, health insurance identification number, and treatment/type of procedure. Notably, the types of information affected were different for each individual, and not every individual had all the above listed elements exposed. Rest assured that patients’ Social Security number and financial information were not impacted in this incident. Additionally, please note that PGA’s electronic medical records system and complete medical records were not impacted in this incident.

What We Are Doing Security and privacy of patient data is among our highest priorities. Upon detecting this incident we moved quickly to initiate a response, which included conducting an investigation with the assistance of IT specialists and confirming the security of our network environment. We notified law enforcement. We have made immediate enhancements to our systems, security and practices. Additionally, we have engaged appropriate experts to assist us in conducting a full review of our security practices and systems to ensure that enhanced security protocols are in place going forward. We are committed to helping those people who may have been impacted by this unfortunate situation.
